HUMIC & FULVIC ACID

Your body. It's a machine. When properly maintained, it can stay healthy, strong, and functional. But without the proper protection, your body is left vulnerable to attacks. Viruses and bacteria are waiting to break into your immune system and shut down your machine with constant and annoying illnesses.

To keep your machine running smoothly, Enzacta introduces Alfa HFI. Research has implied that the key ingredients in Alfa HFI ward off micro-invaders and keep you from falling prey to viruses. Alfa HFI is a humic and fulvic acid compound that is derived from organic "soil" – the result of millions of years of microbial decomposition of plant vegetation. Humic and fulvic acids assist plants in obtaining its complete nutrition, but excessive use of fertilizers and pesticides has limited the amount of humic and fulvic acids in the soil, depriving the plants we eat of nutrition. Alfa HFI is a super-concentrated source of essential minerals, trace elements, and amino acids. It can help promote the body to heal, boost the immune system, aid in eliminating heavy metals and toxins, and help with the absorption of other essential nutrients.
